Hello and happy back-to-school season! We have so much on tap to share with you.

Adoptive and guardianship parents: treat yourself to a fun night of painting and connecting with other adoptive/guardianship parents at our Wood Sign Workshop at Board & Brush Creative Studio in Sun Prairie on September 20th. You can choose to paint a wood sign, box, or tray and you will be able to pick all of the design details for your project ahead of time.

Relative caregiver families, we have a free, fun event just for you: KINnect Pottery Painting at Fired Up Pottery for Relative Families on September 19th at Fired Up Pottery in Madison. Join us for some pottery painting fun for children and adults! Each person will be able to choose a piece of pottery to paint. This is a FREE event and includes a light dinner.

Looking a little further ahead we are hosting a LIVE WEBINAR: Regulating Together, Part 2 – Jen Bluske, Director of Children’s Therapy Network, will share strategies to create joy, support regulation and enhance relational safety for your child. No need to have watched Part 1 in order to join us for Part 2!

Lastly, don’t miss A Place In My Heart Conference – Parenting From Fear to Love: Wisconsin Dells on October 30th. Renowned author and speaker Bryan Post will provide an overview of The Stress Model Theory with an explanation on how it can be applied to even the most severe behaviors. NEW THIS YEAR – Jockey Being Family is generously sponsoring a limited number of hotel room scholarships (limit of one night per family) for Wisconsin adoptive, guardianship or foster families attending the conference. See the conference Eventbrite page for details on how to apply.

See below for links to details and registration for these events and much more! If you have questions or if we can be of service, please don’t hesitate to reach out. Wishing you and your family a smooth transition into fall and all the best in the new school year.
