

Single Parent Adoption

Just like married couples, single people have many options for adoption. Single parents have the opportunity to complete a private domestic adoption, adoption from foster care, or in some countries, an international adoption. Below are some special considerations for single parents.

Do you have support from friends and family?

Who will help if you or your child is sick?

Is there someone that lives close by in case you need assistance immediately?

Is there someone that can watch your child overnight?

How flexible is your work schedule?
Can you leave if you need to?

Does your employer offer benefits, like sick time, family medical leave, and vacation days?

Support for Single Adoptive Parents:
Single Parent Support Virtual Group
4th Tuesday, every other month. 8 - 9 pm

Information gathered from Adopting as a Single Parent- Child Welfare Information Gateway

